

ETHICAL TRACING STATEMENT

Are you aware of just how your information is sourced and the legal implications this could incur?

What is Price Privacy?

The Information Commissioner called for custodial sentences for the illegal buying and selling of personal information. Using powers under the Data Protection Act he presented a report to Parliament exposing the nature of this unlawful trade. The report - 'What price privacy?' highlights that confidential information can too easily be obtained improperly from public and private organizations, causing significant harm and distress to individuals.

This in turn can now affect you and more importantly have recriminations upon your business and reputation.

At Global Investigations, we follow the legal framework set out by the General Data Protection Regulation 2018 (GDPR). This regulation is important to us because it improves the protection of data subject's rights. Retaining or employing the services of Global Investigations ahead of other Investigation agencies can help you disassociate yourselves from the "rogue traders" who will regularly flaunt the regulations in order to gain business by cutting corners and by gathering Information Illegally.

By adhering to a strict code of conduct we set rigid guidelines to ensure all professional duties are applied in accordance with the highest moral principles and never be guilty of conduct which will bring reproach upon the company or its clients.

How is our 'Ethical Tracing' policy enforced?

- Our staff - as part of our Equal Opportunities practice we are fully versed in the laws governing unlawful trade in confidential personal information.
- Our Information - gathered by our agents, is gained in an ethical manner and investigations undertaken are fully justified
- Our Investigations - are conducted within the bounds of legality, morality and professional ethics at all times.
- Global Investigations website is found under www.tracing.com and more relevantly under www.ethicaltracing.com. Please feel free to contact us directly with any questions regarding this matter and we will be glad to assist, or if you would like to view our code of ethics please direct yourself to our site.
- Do not be culpable for any actions taken by unlawful agents, be sure of whom you are dealing with as this will reflect your reputation.

Our services are always compliant. Please contact a member of our team for more information.